

The Kimball House

Adjacent to The Chubb Theatre is the faithfully maintained Kimball House, a stately 19th-century Victorian mansion that is eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. This historic resource has been protected with assistance from the NH Land and Community Heritage Investment Program.

The house serves as administrative office space for the Capitol Center for the Arts and other non-profit organizations, and has played host to intimate dinner parties, business retreats, meetings and presentations.

Several splendid meeting spaces in The Kimball House are available for public use.

The Chubb Theatre

New Hampshire's largest theater, The Chubb presents a mix of touring Broadway shows, popular entertainers, international dance troupes, family shows and school enrichment performances.

Opened in 1927, the Capitol Theatre was a prime stop on the Vaudeville circuit. Later, The Cap became Concord's premier movie house and concert hall.

The theater was revived in 1995 and then fully restored in 2003. During both projects, hundreds of volunteers contributed over 5,000 hours to paint and restore the magnificent High-Hollywood, Egyptian-motif artwork that gives the theater its unique charm. Said The Boston Globe, "these volunteers have done something extraordinary on Main Street in Concord."

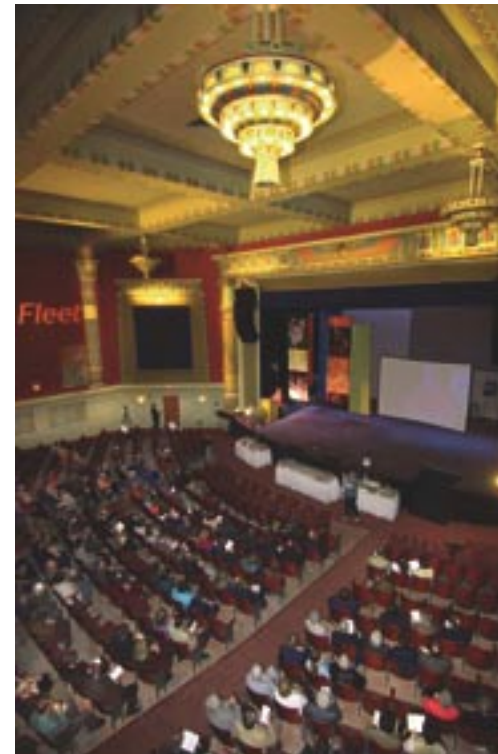

Now celebrating its ninth season, the Capitol Center for the Arts has hosted a great variety of performances including RENT, B.B. King, Anne Murray, Mandy Patinkin, Hal Holbrook, Lily Tomlin, David Sedaris, Joan Baez, Greg Allman, The Neville Brothers, Lyle Lovett, Shawn Colvin, Merle Haggard, Penn and Teller, The Smothers Brothers, Patty Loveless, Mary Chapin Carpenter, Alison Kraus and Union Station, George Carlin, Howie Mandel, Steven Wright, Paula Poundstone and many others.

In addition to a diverse performance schedule, the Capitol Center for the Arts utilizes this auditorium for business meetings, presentations, private parties and a variety of other events.

The Governor's Hall

One of Concord's largest meeting places, The Governor's Hall, located one floor beneath The Chubb Theatre, has quickly become the region's preferred site for business meetings, weddings, private functions, company parties and exhibits.

Thanks to $3 million in renovations, The Governor's Hall is more beautiful than ever. Victorian-style woodwork, carpeting and lighting make the hall warm and inviting. The new bar area, which incorporates the theater's old ticket booth, is a delightful point of conversation. And the hall is now far more versatile, thanks to a new slide-away wall that separates the main hall from the lobby. This creates a wonderful transition between your lobby registration area/cocktail hour and The Governor's Hall, perfectly suited for an elegant evening of dinner and dancing.
